To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to express my extreme satisfaction with the job that Mid-Continental Restoration did on the 51st and Oak project in Kansas City, Missouri from March 2020 to October 2020. Cody Clayton's field management was exceptional and he was supported very well by project manager Clint Carpenter. I have worked with hundreds of subcontractors over the years and this was a top 5 experience.

Cody's field management really set a good tone for the project. Cody was ultra-reliable and provided constant communication. There literally wasn't a day or time that I was left unaware of what was being done in regard to the project. Cody's focus on a quality installation was noticeable as we worked through many unknowns/inconsistencies during the project.

One of the biggest challenges of the project was the fact that the building was occupied and also the need to work around the fully operational Whole Foods anchor. The Mid-Continental crew was routinely spoken about by the onsite ownership team as being respectful, courteous and obviously hard working. As the intermediary between the subcontractor and the ownership, I cannot thank Mid-Continental enough for the high level of character that was displayed on all accounts.

It was clear that Mid-Continental has a great employee culture with a high standard of quality. A sincere thank you from the Weitz Company on a job that was very, very well done. I hope we can partner on other projects in the future, should the opportunity arise.

Sincerely,

Ryan Hawkins
